For Sankalp Security and Facilities

Armed Security

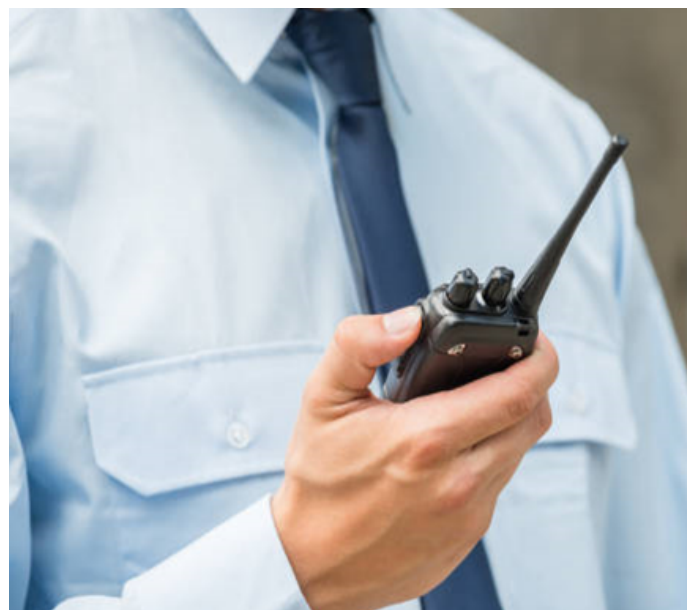

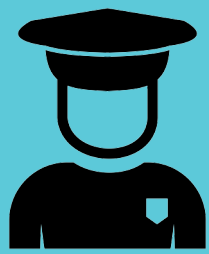

- Armed security is especially pertinent to modern times where there is a heightened risk from various walks of life. For instance, modern banks, industries, factories, and other areas are particularly prone to a potential physical threat, it is these areas where armed security personnel is required and who are equipped with guns or rifles.
- These armed security guards are equipped with the requisite training and certification necessary to carry a lethal weapon on the site. Armed security personnel definitely take the security service at the site two notches high as any potential or present threat is averted with the presence of an armed security guard.
- Though slightly expensive compared to the unarmed security service, the armed security service entails an event moving beyond a simple disturbance and heading toward a violent encounter- in this situation, there is only one type of response that might suffice.

Unarmed Security

- Unarmed security guards operate on the principle of 'benefit of deterrence', which means that they can effectively ward off any potential threats with the right use of electronics and communication and by efficient patrolling.
- With guards on-site, criminals know that security is in place and that there will be no delay in an emergency service response from the side of the security setup.
- An unarmed security guard can physically patrol a location, monitor an electronic detection system at that location, and respond to any threats efficiently and quickly.
- It is these unarmed security guards that may be deployed at disaster-struck sites or sites where a natural calamity has happened. SSF guards are equipped and well-trained to provide security tailored for such exigencies as well as for routine-life requirements.

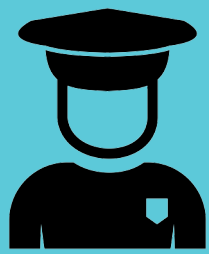

Building Security Management

- The current trend in building security management has shifted more towards pre-emptive security and safety measures like fire protection and building security guards. Once the risks are identified the best way to counter them is to be equipped in order to defend your building against them, therefore up-to-date and versatile security systems contribute to a high level of safety and security.
- Building security management has many components. If you start counting, there are more than nine factors that should be considered and taken care of. Our organizations take care of all the nine verticals and some more. Our security directors first research the risks involved and create a comprehensive plan customized to your expectations and demands.
- After the comprehensive plan is chalked out, the specifics come into the picture. Starting from people and technology to all the small details that need attention, there is a lot that goes into protecting your precious building. Everything from monitoring the access points of the building to settings up political for intercoms, elevators control to keep a close eye on the parking facilities, you need to have, and eyes everywhere and this is not by any means an easy task.

Construction Site

- If you take a close look at the latest report published by the NCIB or the national insurance crime bureau, you will find that abandoned homes along with construction sites are the most vulnerable to crime. This makes clear that there is a need for you to have a comprehensive security solution at your construction sites. If you are the proprietor of the place when your construction crew is not there.
- We understand that no two construction sites are the same and therefore the same plan and strategy won't work everywhere. The strategies we formulate are employed with extreme precision and accuracy at each of our client's sites.

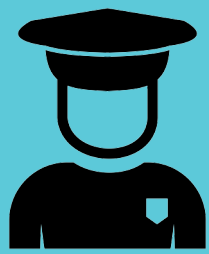

Training

- A well-structured training program comprising customer handling and tackling sudden potential threats such as fire and explosives has made us so thorough.
- SSF provides smartly uniformed, professionally trained, and well-supervised security officers who are responsible for the security and safety of assets, personnel, and property against loss due to theft, pilferage, intrusion, fire, flooding, or an accident.
- We impart skills in protection; combat, firefighting, material control, and soft skills such as courtesy and positive attitude are molded into them. Our security consultants can advise you on the type of system that will deliver the best results for your situations.

Covid-19 Precautions and Protocols

- Due to the outbreak of Covid-19 in the last two years security and safety of one's health has also become majorly equal to the security of our physical being and valuable assets.
- Keeping this in mind SSF takes precautions to keep Vaccinated staff only and regular Covid Tests are done to ensure the safety of our guards as well as civilians.
- The staff is trained thoroughly to practice Covid-19 guidelines themselves and also to make the residence of the building follow rules such as Regular temperature checks at the entry, Proper application of masks, No unnecessary crowding in the lobby, etc.
